Cool climate at jail is closer to reality

BY TRACI BONNEY

The air conditioning of the county jail is one step closer to being accomplished.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to allow the sheriff's department to hire Myron James to draw up specifications for the air conditioning project. James, who designed the jail's present ventilation system, will be able to hire an electrical engineer, run load tests and do other necessary work for the project.

After the specifications are outlined, the board will vote on whether or not to proceed with the air conditioning.

The board, after an emergency meeting Monday to discuss the effects of local weekend flooding and to decide what steps it should take, gave authorization Tuesday to Civil Defense director Robert Boudin to fill out the forms needed to have a state of emergency declared for the area.

If state and federal authorities agree that there is an emergency that is beyond the county's ability to deal with financially, the county may receive funds to repair damages from the flooding.

Another matter mentioned at the Tuesday meeting was a report from the Sand Beach Advisory Committee's Monday meeting. The report was that the committee has no plan to offer at this time, but advocates a study on the costs of repairing the seawall and the drainage system.

The board took the committee's report under advisement. County Engineer Larry Seal updated the board concerning a request that Texas Flat Road be added to the county's state aid system. He told the board state aid money can be used to match local funds for the road.

Bay-Waveland school board adopts state's student policy

BY TRACI BONNEY

Parents of local students will need to dig out their paperwork boxes if they plan to enroll a child in a local school this year.

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board voted Monday to adopt a state policy mandating that students prove they live in the school district before they can register for the 1990-1991 school year.

Parents planning to enroll a student must provide two proofs of residence. These proofs can include a filed homestead exemption application; mortgage documents or a property deed; an apartment or home lease; utility bills; a driver's license; voter precinct identification; automobile registration; an affidavit and/or receiving a personal visit by a designated school official.

Copies of the furnished proofs will be put on file in the students' permanent records.

Superintendent Robert Magee said the state passed this policy because students will use false addresses or guardianships in some parts of Mississippi in order to go to school in a district other than the one where they live, usually for academic or athletic reasons.

Magee added that the problem is not as widespread in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland district as it is elsewhere.

He also told the school board, "By the way, I just had to tell you that this policy appears on the BEST bill right under the item that says BEST will reduce the amount of paperwork for teachers and administrators."

Investigation continues in hit-and-run incident

BY TRACI BONNEY

Hancock County Sheriff's Department personnel continue to investigate the hit-and-run last week that severely injured Kay B. McGovern, 30, of Lakeshore.

According to Investigator Matt Karl, McGovern was struck while jogging on Lakeshore Road by a car with a white top and brown body, driven by a white male.

McGovern, who sustained leg, spine and other injuries, was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Hancock Medical Center, where she was left.

"We still need to talk to the guy that helped her," Karl said.

McGovern is out of the center's intensive care unit and in a private room, Karl said.

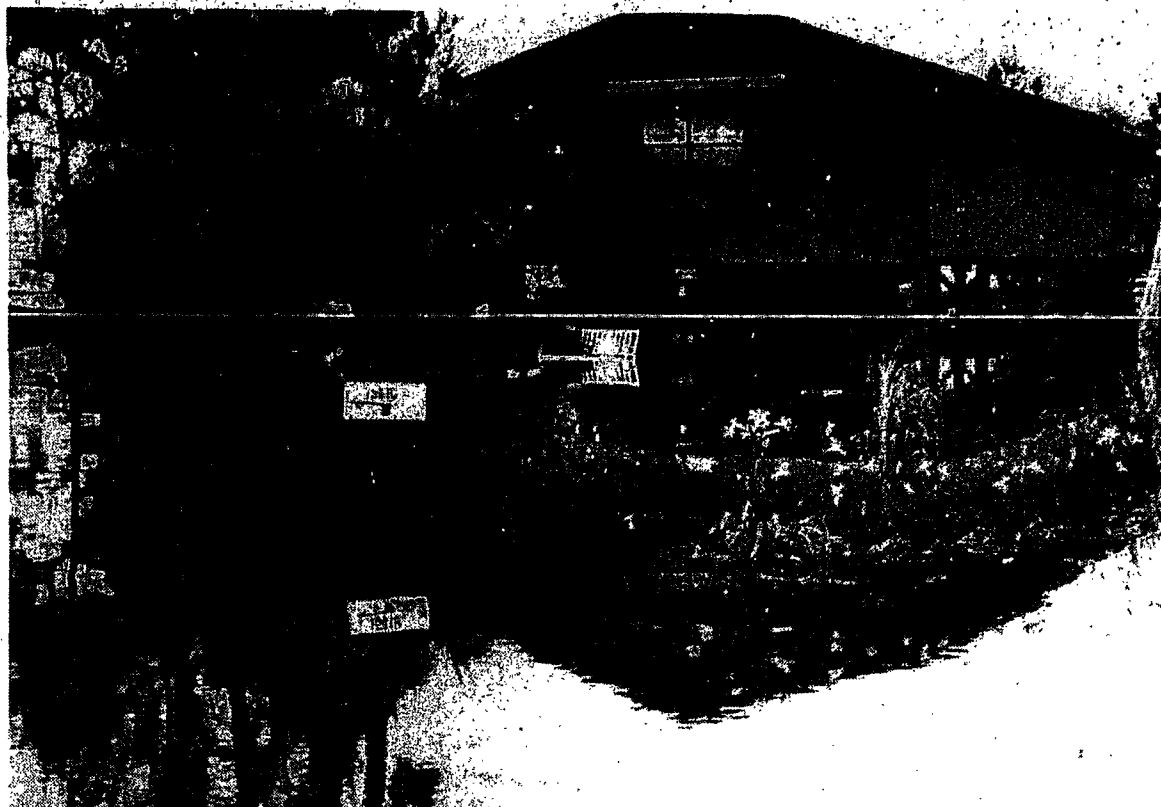

So far, the Sheriff's Department has no suspects in the case.

Karl said if anyone has information that would help the investigation, he or she should call the department.

wade to higher ground while several vehicles were under water. County roads suffered heavy damage as rushing waters caused several washouts. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas) More photos on 6A.

Port and Harbor seeks area management plan

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is in the process of finding out exactly how much of the land in Port Bienville Industrial Park is theirs to sell.

Engineer Carlos Cordon of CorTech Inc. was authorized to prepare a comprehensive plan outlining the parcels of land which the commission plans to improve on a priority basis.

The Special Management Area Plan will indicate designated wetlands, which must be mitigated before construction of a plant can be approved.

The Bureau of Marine Resources will review the plan, with final approval coming from the Corps of Engineers. Cordon said the Corps will be asked to designate parkwide jurisdictional wetlands, instead of making "spot judgements" on individual parcels.

In addition, the Secretary of State Dick Mopus' office will be asked to review the plan, as portions of some of the land parcels are affected by the tidelands map recently issued.

Land affected by the tidelands decision will, in effect, belong to the state and may be leased but not sold.

Final approval of the management plan must come from the Environmental Protection Agency.

"If the plan had been in place, problems could have been averted with a recent prospect," said Port and Harbor Commission Director Harold

'Stolen' truck not stolen

BY TRACI BONNEY

Hancock County Sheriff's Department personnel confiscated an 18-wheeler full of watermelons early this week after receiving a report of a stolen vehicle from the National Crime Information Center, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

However, the vehicle was not stolen. In recording a court order for a finance company to repossess the vehicle, Harrison County Sheriff's Office personnel mistakenly listed it as stolen, Peterson said.

Hancock County personnel apprehended Scott T. Madden, 23, of Biloxi, in the northern part of the county and charged him with possession of stolen property and driving on a suspended license.

Madden was driving the truck for his father, who owns a trucking company in Florida.

Peterson said when the mistake about the vehicle was discovered, Madden paid a $169 fine for driving on a suspended license and was released.

The finance company retrieved the truck from the sheriff's department.

High dropout rate, attendance problems face Bay School Board

Approval gained for Alternative School project

BY TRACI BONNEY

Low attendance and high dropout rates are increasingly becoming a problem for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland school district, according to comments and discussions at the Monday meeting of the district's school board.

Dr. Bert Chevis, chairman of the Hancock County Alternative Schooling Association, sought and received school board support of the association's efforts to provide an education alternative to recent and potential dropouts.

Chevis said, "The association is simply saying that we need to address the problem of four out of every 10 students dropping out of school."

Following Chevis' remarks, Board president Chuck Benvenutti addressed a concern that stems from the high dropout rate — low attendance.

Benvenutti said, "Low average daily attendance is costing us some big bucks."

"I want to see more school board involvement in goal-setting and evaluation for the district. I want the board to work with the district's administration to see why attendance is low and why students drop out."

The board also touched on the topic of the "lighthouse school" concept outlined in Gov. Ray Mabus' BEST bill, but decided to discuss the idea at length at a workshop meeting next week after all the board members take time to become familiar with the bill.

Other matters addressed included:

—accepting the resignations of North Bay Elementary School principal Rodney Fisher and Bay High School secretary/computer operator Karen Moore;

—accepting bids for a lawnmower, asphalt for a pavement project at Bay High School and school supplies and equipment; —approving a request from Parents and Professionals of Exceptional Children for use of North Bay Elementary School for a summer program; —and approval of the district's salary scale for the 1990-1991 school year.

The special memorial services are open to the public. I hope to see you at the memorial services.

On Sunday morning the rains came and kept coming. It has been a long time since I witnessed so much water to fall in such a short period of time.

Bobby Baxter of Pearlinton reported he recorded 5½ inches in one hour and forty minutes and his brother Roy measured six inches during the same period.

It sure did not take long for the area streets to fill with water, and several vehicles ended up with water in them because owners were caught off guard.

Many of those in the flood prone areas were also caught by surprise, and the county had many road washouts especially in the northern portion.

We do not need any rain for a few weeks now.

Legislature to convene on June 18 to fund BEST

The next seven weeks are crucial to the future of Mississippi. What happens during that short period of time will have an incalculable impact on future generations.

The Legislature has put Mississippi's BEST on the books. Now we must pay for it, and the Legislature will convene on June 18 to consider that issue. BEST, Better Education for Success Tomorrow, is not a cost but an investment. Let us not forget what this is all about—it is about Mississippi's children and their future. By funding BEST, we are investing in our future, our children's future and the future of generations to come.

Mississippi's BEST will not go into effect unless we follow through with the means to finance it. So it really comes down to whether we are willing to invest in the promise of tomorrow, or whether we are content to pay for the shattered dreams of yesterday.

BEST was built upon four guiding principles. The BEST bill adopted by the Legislature fulfills three of those principles—greater accountability in schools, more local decision making and more parental involvement.

I am strongly committed to the fourth principle of "No Tax Increase" as well. Education is always blamed for tax increases, but education should be our first funding priority and not just a whipping boy for tax increases.

We do not need to impose a tax increase on the working people of Mississippi. State government is a $4 billion-a-year business; we can and should make government more efficient. And, there are many non-tax ways to raise money without government reaching into everyone's pockets.

Finally, Mississippians deserve the right to vote on a state lottery as a voluntary means of raising money instead of being forced to pay a tax increase.

I will include the lottery in my proposal to finance BEST. However, the financing package I present will include enough other non-tax revenue options to pay for BEST even if the Legislature refuses again to give Mississippians the right to vote on the lottery. But the lottery issue will not go away. Even now our national leaders are considering a national lottery.

It is clear that the people of Mississippi will not be content until they have the opportunity to vote "yes" or "no" on a lottery.

Let's face it: Mississippi has a poor tax base, and money does not grow on trees! Let's make government more efficient. And let's be innovative about how we finance government.

Mississippi is halfway toward entering the next century at the head of the class. We have enacted BEST, and now we have to finish what we started.

Mississippi needs your help now. If you care deeply about Mississippi's children and our state's future, please help make your feelings known to your legislators.

Please call the Governor's Service Line at 1-800-222-7622 and we will help you get involved in this crucial effort to move Mississippi forward.

We must be ready for tomorrow, and avoid the catastrophe of ignorance. Mississippi can stand in the ranks of the world's best and brightest. Our goal is clear—now is the time to achieve it.

King Edward Hotel may only be a memory

Can there be life after death for the old King Edward Hotel, for nearly a half century the home away from home for hundreds of the state's lawmakers?

The old Capitol Street hostelry, unceremoniously closed back in 1968, has stood vacant ever since, playing host to an occasional hobo from the nearby Illinois Central Railroad tracks or a flock of pigeons which inhabited its roof top.

Lately the King Edward, known to Jackson oldtimers as the Edwards House, has been the subject of an eminent domain suit by the Jackson Redevelopment Authority which wants to acquire the box-shaped 12-story building for "urban renewal or slum clearance."

An eminent domain jury held that the city agency could buy the hotel for $500,000, only a tenth of what the absentee owners said the old building was worth. Now it apparently is just a matter of time before the King Edward becomes an urban renewal parcel.

Very likely that means the onetime downtown landmark is headed for the wrecking ball, the same fate that befell its former rival down the street, the Heidelberg Hotel, in the late 1970s.

Some are hopeful that the King Edward because of its apparent structural soundness will be refurbished and live again, if not as a hotel, then as an office building. In recent years, it has been suggested that it be converted into housing for the elderly or condominiums.

The big, barnlike King Edward was not a graceful lady in the sense of the baroque style of the Heidelberg and the memories it holds of political events in this capital city over the last four decades are less dramatic than those associated with the Heidelberg.

Once during the mid-1950s, a movie actor named Ronald Reagan who was going around the country touting America's free enterprise system for General Electric spoke in the newly built crown Room at the King Edward to an audience of budding Republicans.

I recall that Reagan ticked off a laundry list of how many more automobiles, bathtubs, home appliances and other good things that we had under the free enterprise system that they didn't have in the Soviet Union. The case Reagan sought to make was how far ahead of the Soviets we were technologically.

A year or so later, however, the USSR sent up Sputnik into outer space and suddenly the U.S. found that Soviet technology was not as primitive as it was presumed to be.

While the King Edward lobby was the preferred gathering place for cigar-smoking legislators and lobbyists who hovered nearby to pick up dinner checks, the Heidelberg with its Victory Room was the mecca for conventions of "statewide organizations."

It was fulfillment of a country boy's dream for redneck farmers from the Farm Bureau Federation and wool-hatted county supervisors from such places as Hushpuckena or Soso to make their pilgrimage to the Heidelberg, to be served banquet style in the Victory Room.

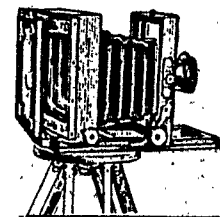

An auburn-haired United States Senator from Massachusetts named John F. Kennedy came to speak in the Victory Room to Mississippi Young Democrats in 1957, risking his national political ambitions by speaking to a segregated audience. But he came in gratitude for the surprising support the state's delegation gave his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination in 1956.

In the same room a decade later, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York listened for hours as blacks and anti-poverty workers poured out testimonies of hunger and near-starvation among blacks in the Delta. The next day he went unannounced to the Delta to see for himself the dire conditions of which they had spoken.

On July 5, 1964, two days after Lyndon Baines Johnson had signed the Civil Rights Act, six black Mississippians walked up to the registration desk of the Heidelberg and ended forever the state's "Jim Crow" law in public accommodations.

Significantly, seven years later, the Heidelberg became the site of the National convention of the NAACP, meeting for the first time in its history in Mississippi.

Of the two grand old ladies of Capitol Street, only the gaunt, empty carcass of the King Edward remains. And even that may not be for long.

The city has a population of about 3,500. It has a system of water works of pure artesian water, a good courthouse, a fine public school building, an excellent college (the St. Stanislaus) costing $75,000, with an attendance of about 300 students. There are seven churches here, two Methodist, two Catholic, two Episcopal and one Baptist..."

Mississippi students bullish on America

Mississippi's students are bullish on America.

At least 2,000 are—representing elementary, junior high and high schools from across the state.

Those 2,000 students made up more than 400 student teams taking part in this year's Stock Market Game sponsored by the American Enterprise Center of the Mississippi Economic Council, along with the brokerage firm of Legg Mason in Jackson and the Clarion-Ledger newspaper.

The object of the game, played through the two semesters of the school year, is free enterprise education. And, in these games, free enterprise education comes through simulated participation in the stock market.

Student teams begin the year with $100,000. The challenge is to study the market, invest wisely, and reap the dividends from the American free enterprise system.

Eligible to participate are advanced elementary students, junior high students and students from senior high schools.

Now four years old, the Stock Market Game, directed by the American Enterprise Center, have grown from 10 teams in the first year to more than 400 teams in the 1989-90 school year.

A few nights ago student teams from 10 schools gathered in the capital city to celebrate their earnings. A high school team from Cruger-Tchula Academy in Holmes County reported in with earnings of more than 30 percent for the second semester of the school year.

But they were all winners—students from Holmes County.

Stennis Space Center hosts Old Timers' Day

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center will host its third annual Old Timers' Day celebration beginning at 3 p.m. Friday, May 18 at the center. Stennis Space Center Associate Director William Taylor will be master of ceremonies.

The occasion is held in commemoration of the first tree cutting on May 17, 1963, when construction of the NASA facility began. Old Timers' Day recognizes employees and retirees who worked at Stennis Space Center during the early years of the Apollo program when the center was called the Mississippi Test Facility.

NASA employees, as well as employees of SSC contractors and resident agencies with 20 or more years of service, will gather to share stories.

NASA's Mack Herring, Stennis Space Center's historian, who is currently writing a history of the center, "urges old timers and former employees to come out and share their recollections of past times as a contribution to the center's written history." Herring is a 30-year veteran of America's space program.

Retirees and active employees with 20 years or more service may attend free of charge.

All other Stennis employees are invited and may attend for a $3 donation.

Retired U.S. Senator John C. Stennis of Mississippi, for whom the center is named, was the guest speaker at last year's Old Timers' Day.

For more information, contact Maggie Leonard at SSC at (601) 688-1866.

Liberty Bell rings most joyful noise

Send for the shofar! Let us make a joyful noise! We have interesting information dating back to ancient times when the ram's horn was used to relay messages.

Pass the shofar and relay the fact that on June 7, 1753 the Liberty Bell was originally hung in the tower of the State House (now Independence Hall).

It had been inscribed: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land and unto all the inhabitants thereof."

The third book of the Bible, Leviticus, records in Chapter 25 and verse 10 this sentence. Leviticus give a detailed account of laws concerning offerings and sacrifices practiced by the Jewish people.

These laws and instructions were said to have come from the Lord and given to Moses on Mount Sinai. The laws were just and fair and the instructions when practiced brought security and prosperity.

Then came the "jubilee." The ram's horn, used as a trumpet, announced that bondmen were free, mortgaged land restored to original owners, and land was left fallow to rest for a year.

When the Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, 1776, the Liberty Bell rang joyously. On Sept. 18, 1777 it was taken to Allentown, Pa. to prevent its being captured by the British. It was hidden under the floor of Zion Reformed Church and later brought back to Philadelphia.

Year after year on July 4 the Liberty Bell rings out to remind all American citizens of their rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It is also rung when great leaders of our country die. The bell in 1835 cracked during the funeral of chief Justice John Marshall.

The Liberty Bell was made in England and was recast in Philadelphia. It weighs 2,080 pounds. It is now a treasured relic and is on display in the Tower room of Independence Hall. The bell is no longer rung. It has, on very special occasions, been struck—struck gently.

Benjamin Franklin has been noted as saying: "Yes, Liberty is ours—if we can keep it."

Pass Christian seafood fest to be held May 25-27

Special to the Echo
The people of Pass Christian and St. Paul Parish are gearing up for what has become one of the most popular events on the Gulf Coast entertainment calendar—the annual Pass Christian Seafood Festival.

Each year thousands of people from surrounding Gulf Coast communities and the neighboring states of Louisiana and Alabama travel to Pass Christian to partake of the festival's traditional seafood dishes, great music, arts and crafts, games and other fun filled events. This year's festival, to be held over the Memorial Day weekend, starts at 4 p.m. on Friday, May 25. The festival opens at 11 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The Seafood Festival was started years ago as a fund raising event by a small group of parishioners from St. Paul Parish and parents of children who attend St. Paul Catholic Elementary school in Pass Christian.

Catholic schools, although open to anyone who chooses to attend, are not supported financially by the state or federal governments, and therefore rely heavily on fund raising as a means of minimizing the cost to individual parents.

The annual Seafood Festival fits the fund-raising bill quite nicely. Over the year, it has not only grown in size and popularity, but it has also evolved into an event which is heavily supported by the local community. The Seafood Festival is organized, orchestrated and operated by an all-volunteer army of parishioners, parents and local residents. Proceeds from the festival benefit St. Paul School.

Major highlights of this three-day gala event include:

A large variety of arts and crafts booths, which are set up on the festival grounds.

Nearly all varieties of boiled and cooked seafood and seafood gumbo.

Games and all but continuous entertainment.

A three-day tennis tournament, which includes men and women's singles, plus mixed doubles.

Three popular show bands will round out the evening entertainment schedule of the festival. On Friday evening "Doctor Rock and the Internship" will stage an open-air performance of popular rock hits.

On Saturday evening of the festival the increasingly popular "Passport" of New Orleans will return for the fifth consecutive year. Like their performances of prior years, "The Passport" will again entertain the festival audience with their exciting and diversified renditions of 50's, 60's and 70's popular rock groups. Among their most popular numbers are impersonations of Elvis, the Blues Brothers and the Beatles.

The Pat Murphy Band begins performance on Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m.

Admission to the festival grounds is open to the public without charge.

Main library to close to begin automation

The City County Public Library will be closed the week of May 21 to allow the staff to bar code the book collection for Phase I of the library's automation project. The library will reopen at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, May 29, the day after Memorial Day.

Library patrons with books due the week of May 21 are requested to return them to the outside book drop on Ulman Avenue. The book drop is emptied daily.

The Hancock County Library System has recently purchased the Dynix automated library system which will tie the three libraries at Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Kiln together with an automated card catalog, automated circulation system, community information and referral module, and automated systems for acquisitions, interlibrary loan and inventory control.

The target date for implementation of this system is the fall of 1990. The public access online card catalog will be available at the library in Bay St. Louis when it reopens on May 29.

The Waveland and Kiln Libraries will not be affected by the closing of the library in Bay St. Louis. The hours at both branches will remain the same during that week.

For further information, call the City County Public Library at 467-5282.

Historical Society plans sidewalk sale

The Hancock Historical Society will hold a discount sidewalk sale in front of Shieldsboro Antiques, 128 Court Street, Bay St. Louis on Saturday, May 19 from noon until 4 p.m. There will be great buys on bric-a-brac, etc.

Consignments for the shop and the annual Spring Antique Show are needed. For information contact Dr. Larry Heller, society president, at 467-1304.

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

"Earth has no sorrow that Heaven can't heal."

—Thomas Moore

"You can understand the Bible only on your knees."

—Mabrice Zundel

"Jesus changed sunset into sunrise."

—Clement Alexandria

Ten children from St. Ann-St. John Parish received First Holy Communion last Sunday at St. Ann Church during the 9:30 a.m. Mass. According to Delores, coordinator for the parish, the ten children who received the Blessed Sacrament from our pastor, Father Justin, were Nicole McCordle, Brandon Ellis, Racquel Marziale, Timothy J. Kihneman Jr., Mindy Moran, Travis Fucich, Tina Rasmussen, Elizabeth Giveans, Kristine Schiro and Charles Kihneman Jr.

Nicole McCordle and Travis Fucich carried the gifts during the offertory procession. For the May Crowning, immediately following the Holy Mass, Linsey Davis crowned the Blessed Virgin Mary for Mother's Day.

Our sincere thanks to the following volunteer teachers who prepared the children so well, Jenette Butsch, First Holy Communion; Sherri Mauffray, teacher of the advanced classes; and Betty McCordle, pre-school and first grade teacher; also Sheryl Colson, correspondence coordinator.

Members of the parish and friends will participate in a "Living Rosary" 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 22. Everyone is invited to attend this special devotional to God and the Blessed Mother at St. Ann Church in Clermont Harbor.

Bay High team finishes tennis season with 6 wins, 5 losses

The Bay High tennis team finished the season recently with an overall team record of six wins and five losses in what Coach Michael Ladner deemed "a very successful and enjoyable year."

"We didn't finish with the team record we wanted, but we had a great group of young people who worked hard to improve their tennis game. I think they all accomplished their goals of improving individually and as a team," Coach Ladner said.

Bay High tennis team members this season included seniors Chad Albe, Tommy Bergeron, Kinta Ladner, Alex Machado, Jim Moore; juniors Janelle Bufkin, Paul Compretta, Bret Foreman, Jermain Labat, Susan Long, Kelly Oliver, Yann Leroux; sophomores Susanna Cameron and Trent Favre and freshman Miranda Smith.

Highlight of the season was the play of boys' singles Paul Compretta who finished the regular season at 7-1, losing only to cross-town rival St. Stanislaus and Myron Labat Jr.

Compretta lost no district matches this year until losing in the finals of the district tournament to Pass High's Thonh Roettele whom he defeated twice during the regular season.

Another highlight was the play of the remaining boys on the team who played in various combinations throughout the year to finish with a record of 8 and 3 with the duo of Jim Moore and Trent Favre ending the year as district tournament champions.

Results for Bay High at the district tournament held at Jackson County Junior College campus on April 24 were:
Boys' Singles: Paul Compretta, runner-up

Girls' Singles: Susanna Cameron, runner-up
Boys' Doubles: Jim Moore

Reisch sets record

Rocks led to third place finish

The St. Stanislaus track team posted its best-ever finish in a state meet Friday in Pearl. Led by double winner Chris Reisch, the Rocks tallied 49 points.

The team began the day with Galen Smith placing fourth in the triple jump and Gary Ponthieux placing second in the pole vault.

In the running events, Brian Brooks placed second to Oxford High School's Joe Walker in both the 1600- and 3200-meter runs.

Billed as a duel between the two best distance runners in the state, each race was run with the best of tactics and strategy.

In the sprints, Reisch laid claim to the unofficial title of the "Fastest 4A Runner in the State" by winning both the 100- and 200-meter dashes, the latter in a state 4A record 21.4 seconds. Shannon Garrett followed Reisch in the 200 with a strong sixth place finish.

Also competing for the Rocks were Paul Johnson who finished seventh in the 400-meter dash, and Mickey Quinlan, Chris Schenker, Reisch and Garrett in the 400-meter relay.

On their way to the state finals, the Rocks captured their first-ever south State Championship.

The Rocks' best previous finish was sixth place in 1987.

Overall, the SSC team had a total of 96 points, with West Jones in second with 82, and Quitman third at 64 points.

Brian Brooks was a double winner in the 3200-meter run and the 1600-meter run with times of 10:10 and 4:47, respectively.

Brooks also ran a personal best of 2:01 and the 800-meter run for a second place finish. He collapsed at the finish line from exhaustion.

"I told Brian in the two long runs that if he was not pushed, just run well enough to win it," commented Rock track Coach Larry Ramsey.

"I know going into the 800 he would have some difficulty. It was very hot and humid. We were more concerned with scoring points than running personal bests on that day."

Also advancing to the state meet were Shannon Garrett in the 200-meter dash, Galen Smith in the triple jump, Chris Reisch in the 100- and 200-meter dashes, Galen Smith in the triple jump, Gary Ponthieux in the pole vault, Paul Johnson in the 400-meter dash, and Mickey Quinlan, Chris Schenker, Reisch and Garrett in the 400-meter relay.

Bay Middle Field Day

Fun was the order of the day at the recent Bay Middle School Field Day. Clockwise, from the left, are some scenes of the day's activities. Robin Nebors clears the final hurdle in the obstacle course set up in the school's stadium, as other students use a variety of methods to negotiate the course. Meanwhile, Lynia Johnson and Melanie Perniciaro practice teamwork before the three-legged race. As several students await their turn in the obstacle course relay race, Jermaine Benton carefully transports a spoonful of liquid to the bucket at the end of the water race.

Bay Middle School held its first annual Field Day recently in spite of threatening thunderstorms. The fourth, fifth and sixth graders were bused to the high school stadium to enjoy field events organized by Barbara Boston and volunteers from the Middle School PTO.

Expressing their class spirit with selected colors or uniform t-shirts, students participated in a variety of field activities. Assisted by their teachers, each class moved from one event to the next where parent volunteers explained, supervised and judged.

Events included a water race and the ever-popular three-legged race. The latter featured a surprise victory for fifth grade teacher Peggy Dutton and Field Day coordinator Barbara Boston who joined the competition.

Waveland Shotokan Karate students compete in AAU Karate tournament

Five students from Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate Club of Waveland, under the direction

Kumite uses techniques from Kata in the practice of actual combat with real opponents but controlled situations.

Karate is in one sense a simple method of combat. However, it contains within it an approach which enables the Karate practitioner to overcome fear and develop a strong fighting spirit.

This method allows the individual to become strong internally, providing it is practiced with human dignity and purpose.

Sensei Ladner said he is extremely proud of his students. All the time spent in extra training proved to be worthwhile.

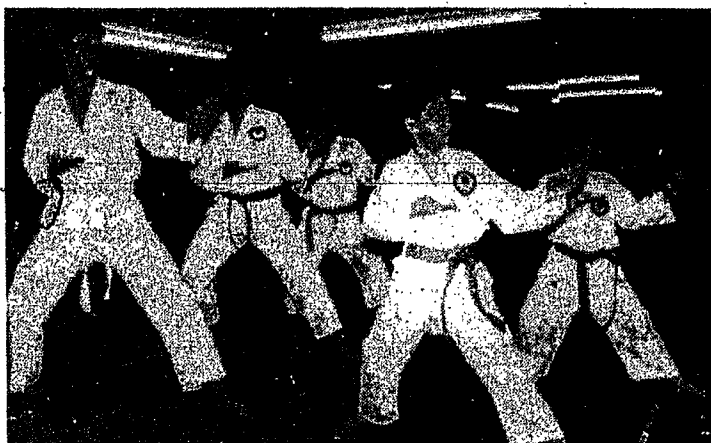

All five students qualified for the National AAU Tournament to be held in New Orleans in

INSIDE CARTEL

Last August the murder of Colombian presidential candidate Luis Carlos Galan sparked yet another chapter in the ongoing saga of Colombia's war on drugs.

The U.S. is now spending over $150 million a year to help Colombia, the primary source for cocaine, fight its war. Is it working?

"Frontline" with Judy Woodruff examines the power of Columbia's drug lords and the impact of their vast cocaine wealth on Colombia when "Inside the Cartel" is broadcast at 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

Fun and fitness combined in program for special students

BY TRACI BONNEY

It's almost summer. Do you know what your children will be doing?

Members of Parents and Professionals of Exceptional Children know what their youngsters will be doing — and when, and where.

This organization of teachers and parents of children with handicapping conditions, started by North Bay Elementary School teacher Linda Salaun, has developed a summer recreation program.

The organization started as an information source for parents, but the parents felt that what was needed was not information, but activities for their children.

This feeling led to the development of a program for special education children from the ages of 5 to 18 and their regular education siblings, but geared primarily toward special education children.

The camp's first season was last year. The camp started with 20 children and met two times a week.

This year, 30 children are registered, and Salaun hopes to see more enroll before the eight-week camp starts.

This year the camp, which starts June 18 and ends August 10, is expanding to a three-day week. The students will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. until noon.

Two hours of the three-hour day are scheduled for structured recreational play, and the other is set aside for arts and craft projects.

The program will focus on one sport and one craft project each week. This will give training and reinforcement to the students in each area. It will also give the special education students training in sports that are part of the Special Olympics, readying them for participation in it.

"I'm really excited about this program," she said. "We're holding it at North Bay Elementary, where we have the playground to use, and one classroom."

The program has two paid teachers, two paid teacher assistants and several volunteers. Last year, United Way of Hancock County sponsored the program. Salaun hopes that the organization will assist again this year in paying the teachers' salaries and the necessary insurance.

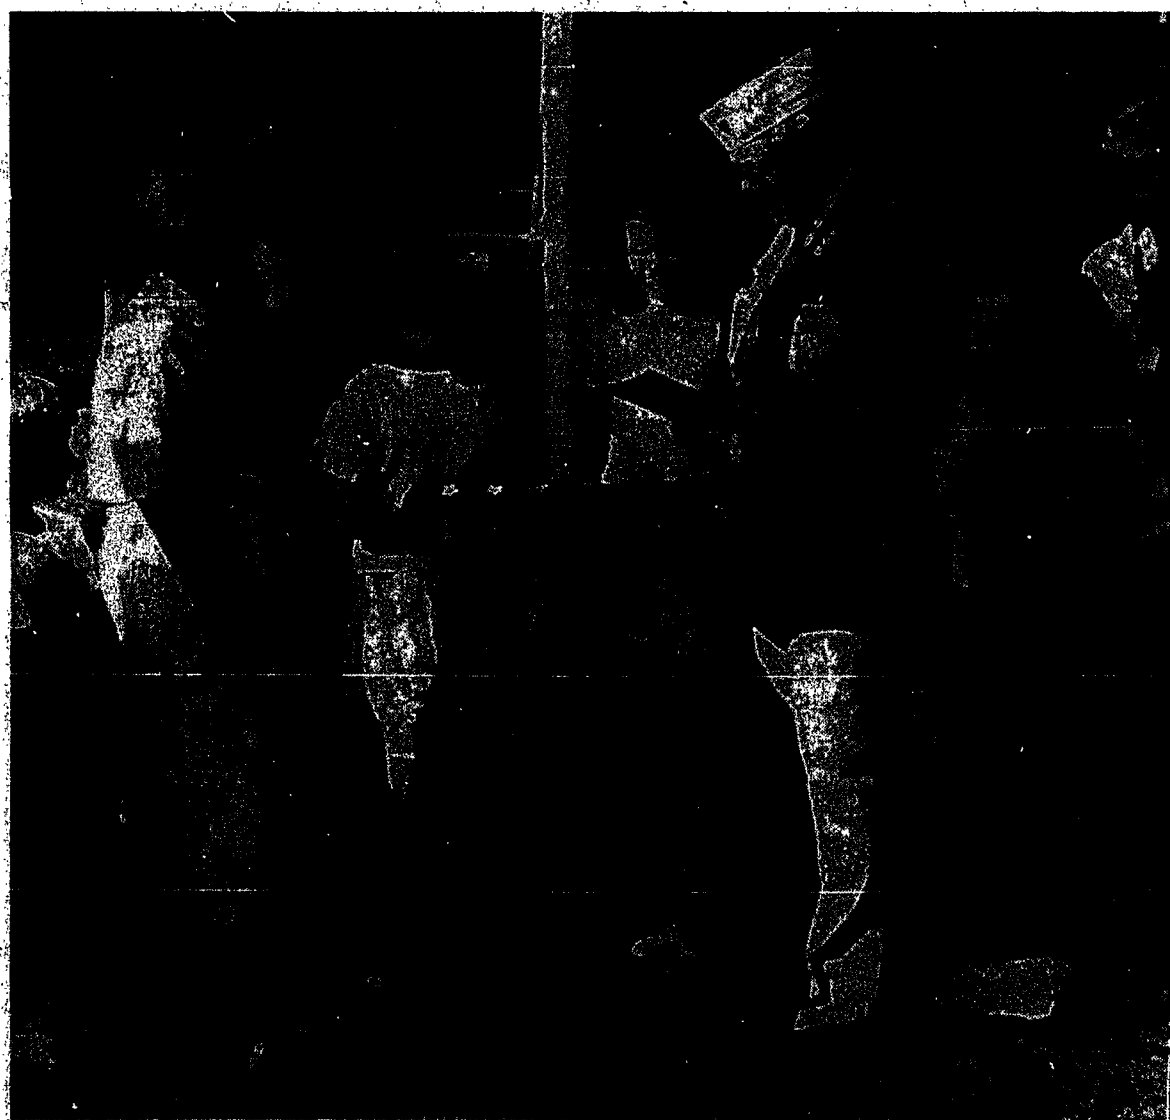

Salaun said anyone interested in volunteering to work with the program or in enrolling a child in the program, may call her at 467-7538.

She added she expects the program to be even more successful this year than it was last year.

"We want to have a total enrollment of 50 children this year."

Among the students were, Barbara Smith, head teacher, and assistants Katie Knodle, Gail Boudreaux and Connie Brennecke. The flag was received on behalf of U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor. ## Maggio, Cromwell, Denson are Byrd Scholarship winners

Shannon Maggio of Our Lady Academy and Michael Alan Cromwell and Noah Hall Denson, both of St. Stanislaus High School, were among 65 Mississippi high school seniors who have been awarded Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarships in the fourth year of this national program named for the long time legislator from West Virginia.

The scholarships, of $1,500 each for one year, were awarded based solely upon past academic achievement and promise of continued academic success.

Financial need of the applicants was not a factor. All winners will be required to show proof that they are attending college.

The scholarships were disbursed equally statewide, with 13 being awarded in each Congressional District.

Applications for the scholarship were judged based upon ACT/SAT scores, grade point averages, extracurricular participation, honors and awards, and a one-page essay entitled "Why I Intend to Go to College."

The Byrd Scholars were selected by a seven-member committee of parents, teachers and administrators. The program was open to all high school seniors in both public and non-public schools in the state.

Winners were chosen without regard to which institutions of higher learning they planned to attend.

Maggio wins national leadership scholarship

Competing against approximately 6,500 school winners from throughout the United States, Shannon Maggio, an Our Lady Academy senior, has won a national Principal's Leadership Award. Only three Mississippi students received this award.

Sister Jacqueline Howard, Principal of Our Lady Academy, announced the award, which includes a $1,000 college scholarship. Some 150 awards were presented as part of National Student Leadership Week, April 22-28 by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) and Herff Jones Inc.

Principals in high schools throughout the country could nominate one of their student leaders. Winners were selected based on their participation in service organizations, clubs and athletics; achievements in the arts and sciences; employment experience; and academic record.

They also had to write about their personal leadership style and how it was developed through student activities.

"Maggio has built a record of outstanding service and scholarship while in high school," said Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, executive director, NASSP.

"Her leadership potential clearly is demonstrated by winning the Principal's Leadership Award. She's a fine example of the outstanding calibre of young people in America's high schools."

While at Our Lady Academy, Maggio has been Student Council president and vice-president, captain of the volleyball team, recipient of the Hugh O'Brien Leadership Award, captain of the Math and Science Team, and a National Merit Scholarship finalist.

She has been selected Most Valuable Player of the volleyball and tennis teams, Star Student and valedictorian. This fall she plans to attend Duke University to study English.

RYAN WHITE

Kids are asking questions about AIDS, and some of their concerns will be addressed in a special rebroadcast of a "3-2-1 Contract Extra," "I Have AIDS: A Teenager's Story" at 5:30 p.m., Sunday, May 20, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

This half-hour special focuses on the late Ryan White and his valiant fight against the disease. The program features the teenager spending time with his classmates and discussing AIDS to a group of fifth-graders at a New York City public school.

The program explains in simple terms what viruses are and how the AIDS virus is unique. The program summarizes the facts about AIDS and provides a toll-free number offered by the National Centers for Disease Control for more information about AIDS.

OLA group meets weekly in pilot scripture study program

Our Lady Academy is one of 10 schools across the nation piloting Scripture Study for Teens, a program sponsored by the Scripture Study Office in Little Rock, Ark.

Ten students from Our Lady Academy meet at 6:50 a.m. once a week to share prayer and scripture before school begins.

"I have to push myself to get up, but it makes me feel like a better person and adds something special to my day," said Kaaren Kolodziej, senior.

Written by Fr. Stephen Binz, the Little Rock Scripture Study for Teens consists of daily reading of the scriptures with a commentary directed to teenagers and weekly discussion.

"I like the Bible study because it gives me an opportunity to learn how my peers understand the gospel," said Shannon Maggio, senior.

Each day for nine weeks the participants read a passage from the Gospel of Mark along with a commentary explaining the section.

After prayerful reflection, the teens answer three questions in order to understand the passage better and apply it to their lives. They then share this reflection in the small group.

"It is one of the few times in my school week that I actually feel closer to God through everyone in the group. I look forward to this time," said Rachel Fillingame, junior.

Sister M. Elisa Bauman, RSM, group leader, said, "I was pleased when the members of OLA Campus Ministry showed an interest in studying the Bible, but I was totally amazed at the hour which they chose to meet. They are all very active in extracurricular activities, and this was the only time available for this commitment."

Other OLA members of the scripture study program are Anna Dean, Laura Haas and Stacey O'Brien, seniors; Becca Kinney, Catherine Ohman and Rhonda Spiess, juniors; and Monica Maillho, freshman.
